The Juniors have lived up to the honor of being awarded the Wood-Mar award by last year's senior class. They completed the pennants at a class party in time to sell them at Homecoming. Early in the year the bear became theirs only to be lost to the Sophomores. The class gave a skating party for the school early in January and were winners of the interclass basketball tournament. The Junior-Senior banquet was given in March this year. Appropriately it had the theme, O.P.A. rationing. Class officers were David Thomas, president; Florence Swanson, Vice-president; and Betty Ashwill, social chairman.

Classes

Most of the activity of the Sophomore class this year was keeping control of Bruin. They lost him and got him back only to lose a large part of him in a class scramble. After Mr. Weesner measured the pieces the new Bruin was awarded to the Sophomore class. In his honor a school party was held and the old Bruin was given to the museum.

At Homecoming the class sold chrysanthemums. Class officers are; Carroll Michener, president; Harold Nelson, vice president; Evangeline Shattuck, secretary; Leo Crisman, and Evangeline Marx, social chairmen.

One memorable activity of the class was the removing of the red painted numerals that suddenly sprang up all over the campus. Class officers are; Orrin Ogier, president; Don Brash, vice president; Dorothy Chaney, secretary; and Betty Ann Craven, social chairman.

ORGANIZATIONS

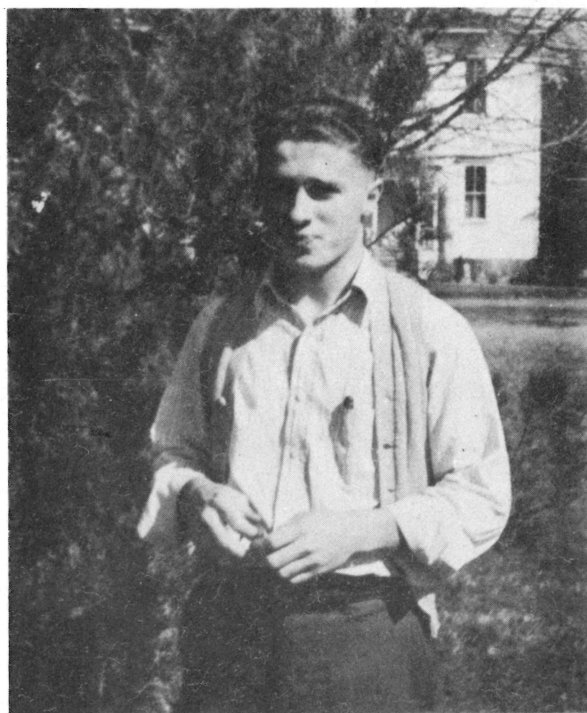

Associated Students

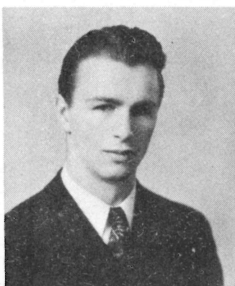

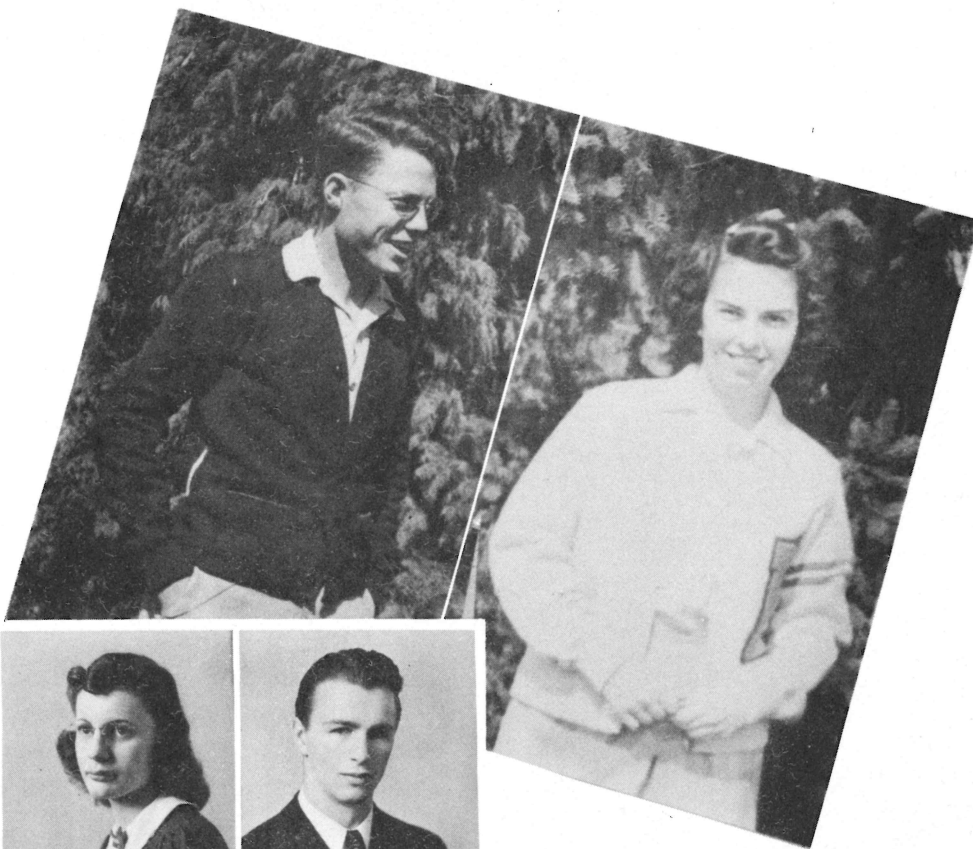

The outstanding work of the student body this year was to acquire and furnish a recreation room in the Science Hall. Work was done on the student body office. New lamps and chairs were added.

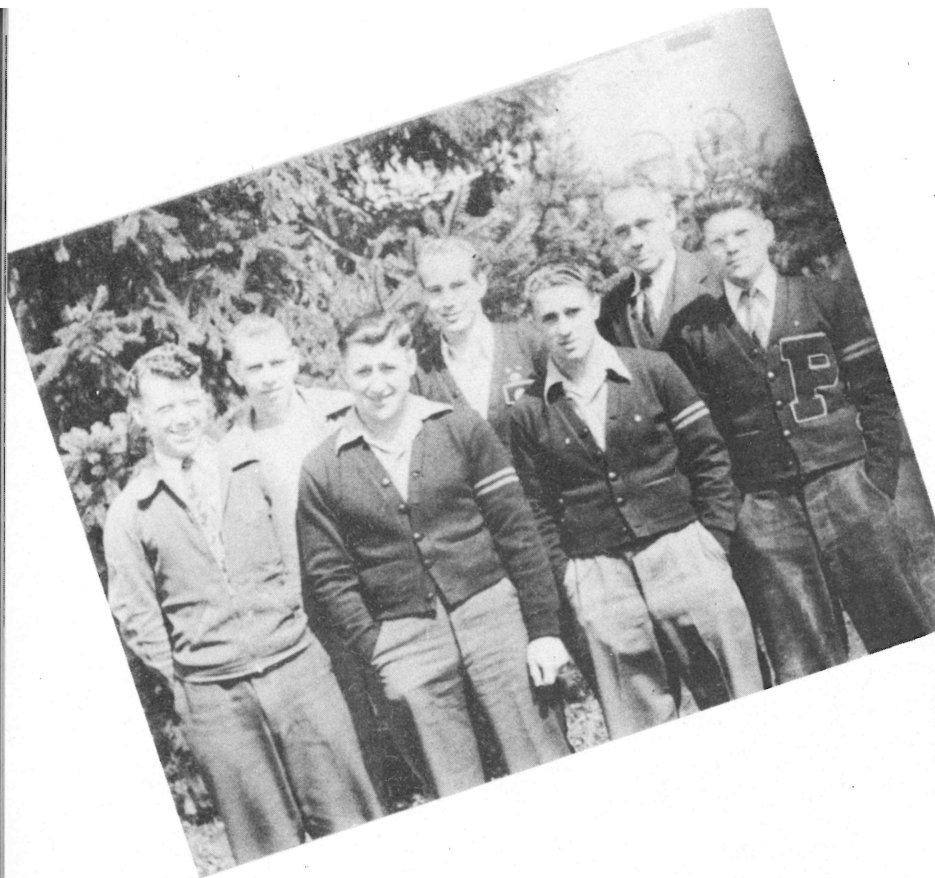

Homecoming and two clean up days were successful, one of them being used to reconstruct the canyon bridge. Student affairs were handled by Jim Spirup, president; Elenita Mardock, vice-president and Abigail Miller, secretary.

Christian Associations

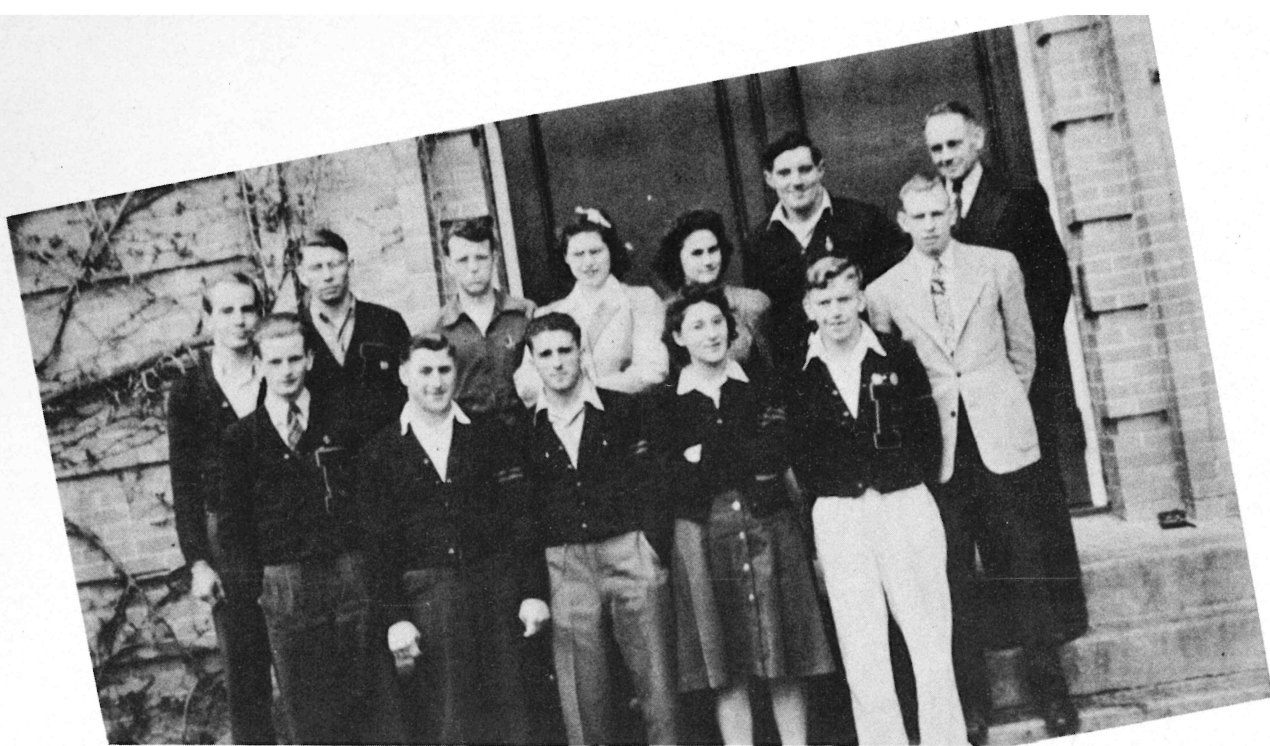

The Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. were quite active this year with a high percentage of the school enrolled as members. A student mixer, big sister picnic, stag mix, and formal reception in the first week of school were to welcome and introduce the new students. The Y's sponsored the new pastor of the Friends church, Lloyd Cressman, in chapel meetings. The Y.W. gave a few Thanksgiving baskets. There was no caroling this year because people could not put candles in the windows.

At the beginning of second semester a second reception was held. The Y.W. sponsored a successful Father-Daughter banquet in February. The Friends church sponsored chapel talks by Moses Mendenhall for the Y clubs. The Y.W. made a donation to the world service fund. Its potluck dinner was successful and they had a May Day breakfast.

The student body of Pacific College maintains two regular publications, the Crescent, published twice monthly during the school year and the L'Ami (French for Friend) published as the school's yearbook. The Crescent was edited by Art Roberts, shown above on the left, and a very talented staff. The L'Ami, somewhat of a war casualty because of the lack of film, was edited by Douglas Cowley. The combined staffs of the two publications are shown on the opposite page above. Front row; Miller, Crisman, Michener, Macy, Nelson, Roberts. Second row; Lewis, Stein, Roberts, Shattuck, Archambeau, Hadlock and Professor Lewis.

Athletic Associations

The program of the Women's Athletic Association consisted entirely of intramural sports this year. Volleyball received the most emphasis with basketball and baseball taking their places in the proper season. Several girls played badminton, and some took archery for credit. Officers were, President, Betty Ashwill; Vice president, Mary Grace Dixon, and Secretary, Charlotte Macy.

The highlight of the year for the Gold Q, the women's letterman club, was the annual banquet given in February.

Officers of the Gold Q were: President, Ele-nita Mardock; Vice president, Betty Ashwill, Secretary, Alice Gulley.

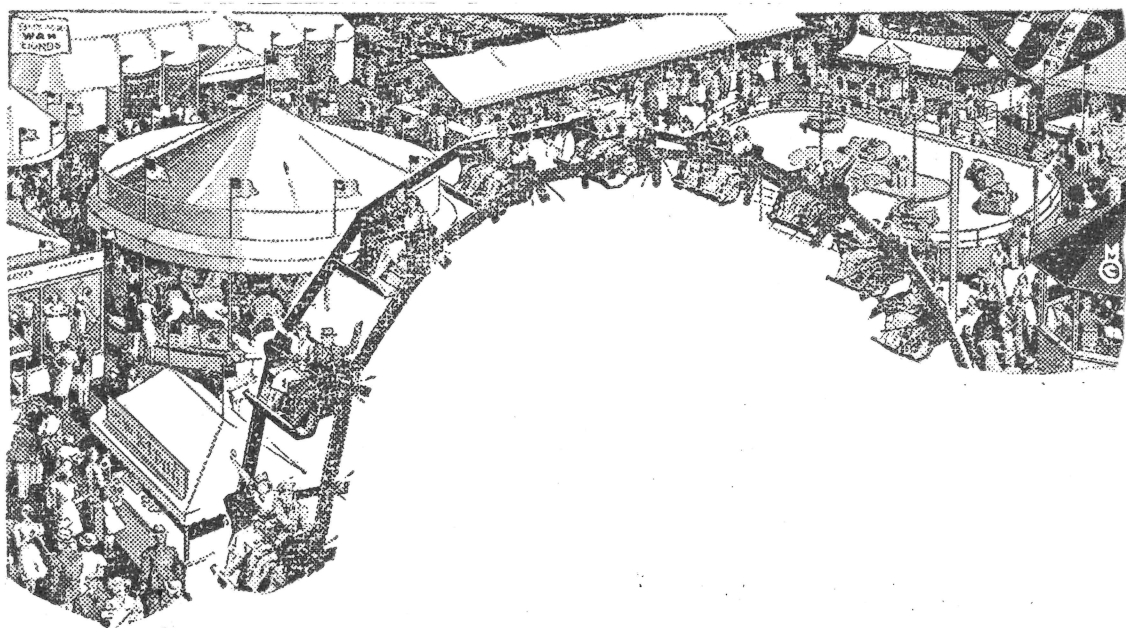

Despite the draft and the OPA the MAA managed to support teams in football. Although teams could not travel far, a full schedule of games was played in every major sport. Considerable new equipment was purchased with money which in other years had been used for transportation. Officers of the MAA were: President, Claude Lewis; Secretary, Carroll Michener and Treasurer, David Thomas.

The Gold P club carried on in high spirit throughout the year, upholding school traditions, initiating new members, making the annual coastal trip and giving the Spring banquet. Officers were; President, Clyde Hadlock; Vice president, Leo Crisman and Secretary, Bill Stein.
